CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—Two long-haired cranks are in Louisville searching for the long lost tribes. Wonder if they expect to find them here?

—A Sunday-School was organized at Mt. Xenia Sunday, with John H. Bright as superintendent. It will meet in the afternoon.

—Gov. Northern, of Georgia, has consented to act as schoolmaster at a spelling bee in Atlanta, to be held under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. of that city.

—Rev. H. C. Morrison is trying to get a little notoriety out of the Breckinridge trial too. He bitterly arraigned the colonel Sunday after Southgate had worn him into a frazzle.

—The West Lexington Presbytery will hold its next session at Springfield church in Bath county, and help celebrate its centennial. It was organized in 1794 by Rev. Joseph Price Howe.

—Thirty-five new names were added to the membership of the Baptist church in this city last week, 26 of whom were baptized by Dr. A. C. Graves Sunday evening. Nine others joined by letter.

—General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, reports that there are now 241 more local preachers than last year and 168,000 more enlisted members. The bishops' address deprecated the increase of the perpetually revivists of the Sam Jones stripe.

—The address of the bishops to the general conference in session at Memphis says the evangelists tend to deteriorate from the appreciation of their regular ministers and in its judgment the general conference acted wisely when it refused to recognize evangelists, such as Sam Jones.

—Col. Breckinridge met by appointment the pastor and officers of Mt. Horeb church, of which he has nearly all his life been a member. To them he confessed his sins and begged their forgiveness. They have taken his case under consideration and will make no decision pending the canvass.

—Rev. W. F. V. Bartlett, for many years pastor of the First Presbyterian church, which Col. Breckinridge attended while in Lexington, refused to act with the Ministerial Union of that city, when it denounced Col. Breckinridge. He doubted the advisability of ministers taking part in the political campaign.

—The committee raised $900 for the salary of Rev. S. M. Logan, and submitted it with the call for him to become pastor of the Presbyterian church here, stating, however, that it was confident that this sum would be considerably increased the second year. Mr. Logan is in Virginia and his answer is not expected for a week.

—Col. Breckinridge gave it to the Ministerial Union at Lexington. Said he, "In the name of God, and before the State, the district and the people, I impeach the ministers of Lexington, and before the crucified Savior and in the name of God. They have no right to meddle in politics; if they oppose one man they will try to nominate."

—A correspondent wishes to know if Rev. Ben Helm has joined the Baptist church. We have no official information on the subject, but we incline to the opinion that he has not. The report probably grew out of the fact that he was recently immersed in the Hanging Fork. His bicycle reared up and threw him, and he was buried with it in baptism beneath the pelagic waters.

—In a letter from Carthage, Tenn., Rev. R. B. Mahony corrects the impression that the Baptist convention is an ecclesiastical court for the trial of its members. Though the largest religious body in the United States, numbering 1,200 to 1,500 delegates, it hasn't as much judicial power as a local Baptist church of a dozen members. The convention is nothing more than a great missionary mass meeting.

—Of Rev. Sanford McBrayer Logan, who has been called to the pastorate of the Presbyterian church here, the Richmond Register says: Mr. Logan is a graduate of Central University, a graduate of the University of Virginia law school, and a graduate of Hampden Sidney, Va., Seminary. He is an earnest, able and eloquent young minister, and that there is a prospect of his being located near his friends here will be pleasant news to them.

—A dispatch from Lexington says that Phil Thompson did not represent the sentiments of Col. Breckinridge and his friends in his notorious speech; that he lost his head and went beyond the bounds of decency without scarcely knowing what he was doing; that he has expressed sorrow at having spoken in such a manner, and that he realizes fully the great injury his speech has done Col. Breckinridge.

—It is said that the per capita for common schools will be $3 this year, against $2.85 last.

LANCASTER, CARRARD COUNTY.

—Dr. W. C. Young, of Danville, preached an excellent sermon to a large audience at the Presbyterian church Sunday.

—Every afternoon the public square is full of graceful (?) bicyclists. Every man and boy in town that can scrape up the $125 has a wheel.

—An impromptu hop was given by the young gentlemen at the Mason House Friday evening in honor of Miss Frazee, of Maysville, and Miss Lula D. Slaughter, of Danville. About 15 couples were present.

—Leave Schooler and Lee Leavel, two colored men, had a difficulty at Benevolence Hall Friday night, when the latter cut the former several times, inflicting dangerous wounds. Leavel made his escape and is still at large.

—There was great deal of excitement in Buckeye and Walker's school house precincts Saturday, when the vote on local option was taken. Buckeye went dry by nine votes and the wets won by a small majority in the other precinct.

—Some parties, said to be from Mercer county, were using dynamite in Dixie last week. Most of the work was done above and near the Stanford bridge. The local fishermen are on their trail and will do all in their power to secure the arrest and conviction of the guilty parties.

HIGHLAND DEMOCRATS

Think They Haven't been Treated Fairly.
(To the Editor of The Interior Journal.)

—The democrats of the Highland precinct are requested to meet at the post-office in Highland May 12. The purpose of the meeting will be to pass resolutions against the way the democrats have been treated in the precincts of Highland, Waynesburg and the mountains.

—William Moreland shipped to Cincinnati a half car-load each of hogs and sheep, which he bought in this county at 4½c and 2½c respectively.

—Final declarations from the Kentucky Derby are all in with possibly a few exceptions, and they leave 27 eligible to start in the great race.

—Twenty-four Aberdeen-Angus cattle sold at auction at Des Moines, Ia., the other day at an average of $141. The highest price was for a bull—$505.

—Old Steinberg, 2½, that has been in the stud for several years, will be trained this season. There's not a gamier race horse in Kentucky than Steinberg.

—About 350,000 sheep will be sheared at Casper, Wyo., this spring. The shearing will be done by steam and shearers will get seven cents per head, boarding themselves.

—According to the current Year Book, 142 sons of Hambletonian, 89 sons of George Wilkes, 83 sons of Almont and 50 sons of Belmont have sired standard performers.

—The trotting mare Katie Earl 2½ died at Toledo, Ohio, May 2d. She won more money, it is said, than any other trotter last year and her owner refused $20,000 for her.

—Over 210,000 tons of buffalo bones, representing 7,800,000 of the animals now almost extinct, have been dug up in North Dakota and converted into fertilizer which has been sent all over the world.

—Charlie Sandidge, of Lexington, sold to Gen. J. B. Castleman, of Louisville, Mo., the bay saddle mare he bought of Matt Sandidge several months ago, for $500. Mr. Sandidge paid $350 for her.

—Monroe Salisburg, the Pleasanton, Cal., horse man, owns the sulky that Nancy Hanks made her record of 2:04 to the one that Flying Jib pulled when he paced the Washington Park track in 2:04. Direct paced to the Nashville track in 2:05, hitched to the Nancy Hanks sulky.

—While Directum, the king of trotting stallions, was being driven from Dublin to Pleasanton, Cal., to take his place in the training stable of Hickok, he stumbled and fell, badly injuring both his forelegs. One of them is in such serious condition that grave doubts are entertained as to whether he will be able to stand training this year.

—Mr. John Bright says that the wheat crop in this county is about the average in area, but that its condition is not first-class, there being a great deal of cheat in it.

—He says that the corn area will be at least 15 per cent. greater, owing to the failure of the oats, and that it is coming up finely. The warm weather has stopped the ravages of the cut-worm to a great extent.

—John Jones, the great jack man, has returned from a two-month's trip through Missouri, Iowa and Nebraska, where he disposed of the following stock, all of which was bought in Lincoln and adjoining counties: Two jacks to the Rulo Horse Co., Rulo, Neb., for $1,050; one to Robert Patterson, Sr., Mound City, Mo., for $600; one to Robert Patterson, Jr., for $400 and two others to Missouri parties for $450 and $550. He also sold a saddle gelding by On Time, for $300 and another saddle horse for $200. Some portions of his trip was pretty tough, Mr. Jones tells us, but altogether he enjoyed it very much. He cleared a little over $1,000 on his trip, which, considering these hard times, is a pretty big two-month's work.

—The First National bank, of Sedalia, Mo., one of the oldest financial institutions in Central Missouri, failed to open its doors for business Friday. The bank has a capital stock of $250,000 and was supposed to have a reserve fund of $25,000.

—At Richmond, Va., Thursday there will be unveiled a statue to commemorate the memory of the Confederate soldiers. It is of bronze, 16 feet in height and represents a typical Southern soldier.

—It will rest upon granite pillars 69 feet in height modelled after Pompey's pillars at Alexandria, Egypt. The statue weighs three tons; it cost $60,000, and has taken just five months to complete it.

To the Democracy of Lincoln.

—At a meeting of the democratic committee of the 5th Congressional district, held at Lawrenceburg, April 26, it was ordered that county conventions be held at the respective court-houses in each county of the district on Saturday, May 26, at 2 o'clock, to appoint delegates to the convention to be held at Nicholasville at 1 p. m., June 5th, to nominate a candidate for Congress. In accordance with this order, I hereby call a convention to be held at Stanford, May 26, at 2 o'clock p. m. for the purpose named and trust that there will be a full attendance.

R. R. GENTRY, Chmn.

FARM AND TRADE ITEMS.

—John Anderson bought in the East End a lot of fat hogs at 4½c.

—The great walking stallion, Blue Bull, can walk seven miles an hour.

—Alexander Bros. bought in Casey a small bunch of butcher stuff at 2c to 2½c.

—A Durac sow, three years old, belonging to a Daviess county man, has had 50 pigs and raised 57 of them.

—J. H. Baughman & Co. have bought several crops of wheat at 52c delivered, which is more than many mills are paying.

—Muleahy & Cohen shipped a car load of fat hogs to Cincinnati Monday night that they bought at 4½c. —Woodford Sun.

—Stromboli, the great Australian horse, has broken down. He had nine engagements at Saratoga, besides others on the Pacific Coast.

—The Record says the stock barn of John B. Parks at Paint Lick burned with 100 barrels of corn and three valuable horses. No insurance.

—William Moreland shipped to Cincinnati a half car-load each of hogs and sheep, which he bought in this county at 4½c and 2½c respectively.

—Final declarations from the Kentucky Derby are all in with possibly a few exceptions, and they leave 27 eligible to start in the great race.

—Twenty-four Aberdeen-Angus cattle sold at auction at Des Moines, Ia., the other day at an average of $141. The highest price was for a bull—$505.

—The trotting mare Katie Earl 2½ died at Toledo, Ohio, May 2d. She won more money, it is said, than any other trotter last year and her owner refused $20,000 for her.

—Judge Caldwell has been officially notified that the State Board of Equalization reduced the assessed valuations in Boyle 12 cents on lands and personality, and 15 cents on town lots.

—Henry N. Faulconer, of Junction City, is one of the graduates at the Danville Theological Seminary this session, and he will preach at Junction City, Williamson and Pittsburg during the summer.

—Capt. Jas. A. Lee, second son of Joseph E. Lee, of this county, died this morning at 10 o'clock at Lee's Summit, Mo. He has been in declining health for several years, his disease being a disorder of the stomach. During April he spent several weeks at Martinsville, Ind., but with little improvement, and a few days ago he left for Lee's Summit, accompanied by his brother, Joseph E. Lee, Jr., with the hope that the change would benefit him. He was 37 years old, a member of the First Presbyterian church and a courteous, honorable Christian gentleman.

—J. T. Dillehay has been appointed postmaster at Strunk, Whitley county.

—There are two reasons why some people don't mind their own business. One is that they haven't any mind; the other that they haven't any business.—Tid-Bits.

—The Emperor of Germany has issued a decree to the Minister of the Royal Household that no newspaper man can ever again see him or the Emperor. They can't even sit on the fence as they pass by.

—The First National bank, of Sedalia, Mo., one of the oldest financial institutions in Central Missouri, failed to open its doors for business Friday. The bank has a capital stock of $250,000 and was supposed to have a reserve fund of $25,000.

—At Richmond, Va., Thursday there will be unveiled a statue to commemorate the memory of the Confederate soldiers.

BRECKINRIDGE.

An I J Man Hears his Masterly Plea. Saturday was Breckinridge day at Lexington and if there has been a time since the silver-tongued Congressman became acquainted with trouble that he felt light-hearted and free, it was certainly on that day. The announcement that Hon. W. C. P. Breckinridge would open his canvass at the blue-grass capital brought a great many people to the city and it was for various purposes that they went.

Some who had never seen the far-famed representative of the famous Ashland district were anxious to lay eyes on him, some went through curiosity to see him after he had gone through his fearful trial and hear what he was going to say about it, while many went to do honor to him who in their eyes is the peer of any man from any standpoint, morals not excepted.

The crowd that packed the Opera House was variously estimated at from

2,500 to 3,000 and the rounds of applause that rent the air on the speaker's arrival and during his speech must have made him feel that it was good to be there.

The speech was 1½ hours in length and was a grand oration. Some compared it with the oration of Cicero, while Charlie Moore, of Blue Grass Bladefame, and who, by the way, hates Mr. Breckinridge as the devil does holy water, said it was the greatest speech since the day of Demosthenes.

Mr. Breckinridge recited his record of nine years in Congress, referred to his trial and the unfairness of Judge

Bradley's rulings, paid a beautiful tribute to his attorneys, Messrs. Butterworth and Shelby, omitting any reference to the Hon. P. B. Thompson, Jr., was particularly severe in his denunciation of the press and pulpit and wound up with a plea for forgiveness from his constituency. His friends rushed to him at the conclusion and for a half hour shook his hands and congratulated him.

ford and who were seen wearing Breckinridge buttons soon after their arrival

THE speech of Col. Breckinridge at Lexington Saturday was perhaps the most remarkable one ever delivered before an American audience. A confessed and convicted adulterer stood before an audience of perhaps 2,500 and defied and cast contumely and contempt on those who had spoken and written of his sin in the way it deserved. Working himself up to a fine frenzy, he said as only he of the silver tongue can say, "Of whatever and to whomsoever I ask forgiveness, to whomsoever I owe reparation, to these I have only defiance; for these only challenge; let them understand now and forevermore that they have not alarmed me; they can not intimidate me; I defy their malice as I loathe their mendacity; and I bring them this day to the bar of public opinion, and in the presence of these witnesses and of this district I charge them as base conspirators, fabricating slanders, for foul and innoble ends, and I am ready to meet that issue whenever and wherever it may be desired." This sounds quite grandiloquent, but it is quixotic. We have heard of no one slandering the colonel. He is his own worst accuser, for he has under oath, "in the sight of God, of the court and of the country," admitted everything that he was charged with and more. Mendacity, duplicity, "superb acting"—all done under the cloak of piety, have been confessed by him, and yet he charges the newspapers with slandering him. He could well afford to have omitted this from his otherwise strong speech. He has done the party good service and his recitation of his acts shows that he has been true to its principles and his constituency, but he has sinned away his day of grace. He can not in future occupy that leading position in Congress that he has, should he be re-elected, and his usefulness, if not entirely, is to a great extent destroyed. He says, "It is charged that under what the revelations concerning my private life have shown I am not fit to be a representative; that that renders it the duty of the district to set me aside; that a re-election would be looked upon as a 'vindication,' that a vote for me is a vote if not of approval of condonation. If this were so, my fellow citizens, I would not stand for re-election; I would not accept your votes; I would not live in your midst. Of what I have been guilty I have made public acknowledgment." The colonel seems to think it is only necessary for a criminal to confess his sins to receive complete absolution. Divinity may grant it at once, but humanity is not so quick to forgive or condone. Col. Breckinridge avers it will be hard for the people to find "a man whose life is stainless, whose days are pure and whose nights are sinless," which being the case, he asserts that the question is only, "can any one else better represent the seventh district than he?" Of the announced candidates there is no great choice, though it is set down as a precept that in choosing among evils, to take the least. Col. Breckinridge may be nominated and elected, but his star has reached its zenith and its descent will be as rapid as its ascent was brilliant and almost pyrotechnical. A good man ought to displace Breckinridge, but unfortunately none has offered. They all live in glass houses of exceeding brittleness.

P. M. GENERAL BISSELL is not a prohibitionist, but he says while there is no law absolutely prohibiting the appointment of those to postmasterships, who have connection with the whisky business, he prefers not to have such men as postmasters. "It is not," he asserts "a temperance nor a moral question, it's a business question purely, and the post-office department is a business institution. From my observation and experience I am convinced any man directly or indirectly interested in the liquor business is in a measure unfitted by his occupation, and that his interest in that business necessarily interferes with a full and capable discharge of his official duties in any branch of the postal service."

COL. SILAS ADAMS has our thanks for public documents of much value. The colonel is a republican of the strictest sect, but he is a good friend of the INTERIOR JOURNAL and the only one in the Kentucky delegation who takes two copies of the paper, one being sent to him at Washington, the other to his family at Liberty.

THE sheriff of New York will have to scuffle along hereafter on a beggarly $20,000 a year. The governor has signed the bill fixing his salary at that, in lieu of all fees. It has been the richest office in the State and is still a pretty good thing.

SENATOR HILL has been giving the lie some more to his assertion, "I am a democrat." Although he went in the caucus he will not be bound by its agreement but will vote with the republicans because of the income tax of the tariff bill. He says his State will pay a third of all the tax derived from incomes and that he will fight the bill on that account till hedges freeze over. The senator is unanimous of the fact, intentionally so no doubt, that there are 43 other States in the Union besides New York. Only the Empire States took any stock in his aspirations to be president and he may have a spite against the others. There were 38 democratic senators present at the caucus and 37 voted for the amended tariff bill. If Hill's me too Murphy, should follow his lead the party will be unable to secure the necessary 43 votes to secure the passage of the bill, and the three populists will hold the balance of power. This is a lovely state of affairs. The democratic party is betrayed in the house of its friends and absolutely impotent to carry out its pledges.

DEPARTING from its usual rule to observe strict neutrality between contending candidates of the democratic party prior to the verdict of a convention or primary election, the COURIER-JOURNAL says the situation in the Ashland district, unfortunate as it is unprecedented, makes it imperative that every journal which has the good of the party at heart, which cherishes the honor of Kentucky and which appreciates its obligations to society, shall protest with all its power against the re-election to Congress of Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge. The party can not afford to accept his services at the price it would have to pay. That part of his speech devoted to the scandal in which he has figured were better passed over in pity. It was a strange exhibition of marvelous effrontery, wretched taste and mentally and morally oblique casuistry. It is amazing that such a plea could be made by one of Col. Breckinridge's intelligence and age.

The mills of the courts grind slowly but they sometimes like the mills of the gods grind exceeding fine. Sixteen years ago John O'Neill, a noted interstate liquor dealer of White Hall, N. Y., was indicted for infraction of the Vermont prohibitory law. He was convicted and fined an amount that would have kept him in jail 16 years. The highest courts of the State and Nation were appealed to and all decided that the law was constitutional, O'Neill went to jail a year ago. Last Friday he tired of confinement and paying $6,702 left the prison in which he would have had to remain 15 years more, but for his money.

The Cincinnati Commercial Gazette lugubriously calls attention to the fact that hardly a dozen private pension bills have been passed by the present Congress and says that "the cut of $25,000,000 in the pension appropriation is only the beginning, if the democrats remain in power." Then all honest men should vote to keep them in power. It is high time that the scandalous raid on the treasury for the benefit of the sharks, bounty jumpers and coffee coolers was checked and if the democrats succeed in doing it, they will be entitled to the plaudits of the whole people.

THE WINCHESTER SUN tells this good one on a republican judge in Magoffin county, who knows perhaps as little law as he does Latin. A judgment rendered at a previous court had failed to be recorded and the attorney for the plaintiff entered a motion to have a "nunc pro tunc" issued. Col. Howard, for the defense, replied that, before the plaintiff could nunc he must first pro tunc, and having failed to nunc he could not therefore pro tunc. The judge looked wise and said, "that's so," and overruled the motion of the plaintiff.

A NEW remedy for dyspepsia and stomach trouble has made its appearance in Southern Oregon. It is nothing less than a spoonful of common, everyday river bottom sand, taken wet just after meals, and several who have tried it testify to its curative properties. The patient will have one consolation if the remedy does no other good. He can be said to have "sand in his craw" even if previously he had been known as the king of cowards.

EMMETT ORR, of the Owenton News, would be called "Bad Medicine" if he were an Indian. Editor Hutchison, of the Owenton Herald, who supports Settle denounced Orr, who champions Breckinridge's cause. As soon as the paper appeared, Orr went to the Herald office and not only "cussed" the editor but his entire force, and demanded and was promised an entire retraction of the offensive article.

A CONVENTION of populists was called to meet at Beck's Hall, Louisville, Saturday, but as only 15 people, all told, were present, it was very wisely decided to take no action at present at least. The populist party does not fill a long felt want and that it has died a-borning is not a surprise.

COL. BRECKINRIDGE says that his experience with newspaper men is that they can not tell the truth. The colonel would make a capital newspaper man, if lying was a special qualification. In the last nine years he has proved himself a direct descendant of the father of falsehoods.

DEATH seems determined that Seymour S. Cadot shall not be tried. He is charged at Richmond, Va., with embezzlement from the Live Oak Distillery Co. The case has been called four times and each time it has had to be continued on account of death. First the secretary of the company died, then the wife of the accused, then a daughter of the president and last week, after the case had begun, the father of a juror died, and again by consent of counsel the case was continued. It is the most singular case, considering the fatality, that can be recalled.

IT is authoritatively stated that Mr. Harrison declared at Cincinnati, while there to address the chamber of commerce, that he is a candidate for the presidential nomination in 1896. He evidently hopes that history will repeat itself and that like in the case of Mr. Cleveland, the people will elect the man they rejected on his first application for a second term. We have had enough of Harrison, however. He ought to be content to rest on whatever of laurels he may have won.

THE PREACHERS, the women, the flesh and the devil are combining against Breckinridge, but if they do not mind they will over do the thing. There can be so much of which some will term persecution that a revolution in favor of the persecuted will occur. The Ministerial Union for instance had better hold its horses. Preachers in politics and church in State are not relished by the average voter.

COL. JOHN O. HOPKINS' threat to kill Charlie Moore if he printed anything derogatory of him, might have been a joke as he claimed after a peace warrant had been issued against him, but if the colonel wants to be elected superintendent of public instruction really cock sure, he has only to carry his threat, joke or no joke, into execution.

THE KENTUCKY PRESS ASSOCIATION will meet in Frankfort, June 6, and remain in the little city under the hills for two days. The good people who know so well how to entertain are already putting the big pot in the little one for their guests and arranging pleasant programs for their delectation.

NEWSY NOTES.

A mob at Tuscaloosa, Ala., hung three negroes for barn burning, and threatened 13 more.

A young New Yorker is recovering from an operation by which one of his kidneys was removed.

The State derived a profit of $233 from the labor of the convicts in the penitentiary during April.

JOHN H. HATFIELD, a postal clerk, running out of Louisville, was arrested for robbing the mails. He stole nearly 200 letters from one firm. He was captured with a decoy letter on his person.

COXEY and his followers having been treated like any other tramps by the Washington authorities, he and they have dropped entirely out. They would never have created any interest, but for the newspapers.

THE CONTRACT for supplying the government with stamped envelopes has been awarded to James Purcell, of Hudson, N. J. His bid was $602,620 a year, which is $314,740 less than the contract now in operation.

THE BIRMINGHAM mine operators will make a united effort during this week to break the coal strike by putting to work at the present scale all the laborers they can secure. The men will be protected by strong forces of deputy sheriffs.

—GEORGE BECK, the Wyoming ranchman, son of the late Senator Beck, went to Chicago and bucked the tiger, which bled him to the tune of $17,000. He gave up all the money he had, and then the animal sued him for $3,350.

—JOHN PATTON, JR., has been appointed United States Senator to succeed the late Senator Stockbridge, of Michigan. He is lawyer and speaker of considerable ability. He will serve until the Legislature elects a senator next January.

—PREPARATIONS are said to be going on for a general strike of the flour millers under the auspices of the Knights of Labor. An assembly of 150 has been formed at Minneapolis, and representatives are now at work at Kansas City.

—In his speech for an appropriation Congressman Ellis declared that Green river carried three times the commerce of Kentucky river, and was the most important of the State's interior waterways, yet had always been discriminated against.

—In a battle at the head of Tug river, in West Virginia, William L. Freeman, a member of the West Virginia Legislature, was killed and his brother fatally wounded by Taylor Harman, over the settlement of a 12-year-old boundary dispute.

—The landing of John Howard Nolan at Frankfort, wanted in Harlan county for murder, makes the sixth of the Howard family that Sheriff T. V. Imboden, of Pulaski county, Mo., has arrested and returned to Kentucky to pay the penalty for their crimes.

—The Utah-Colorado sheep war is on in earnest, and serious results may follow. J. F. Reed's herd of 800 sheep has been slaughtered by indignant Colorado cattlemen. Shots were exchanged, and as Reed is missing it is feared he may have been killed.

—The Congressional committee appointed to investigate Judge Jenkins' decision that the employees of the Southern Pacific had no right to strike, finds that he abused his power without reason or authority, though corruption is not believed to have entered in.

—The Pulaski parties charged with infanticide at Nicholasville were held over, J. Cam Williams in $1,000; Nancy Jane Richardson $500 and Miss Sallie Smith $250. Williams gave bond for all and they left for Somerset. He is a leading republican and the girl he wronged is of respectable parentage.

—A riot occurred at Scottsdale, Pa. The women of the town, armed with clubs, undertook to drive a party of miners away from their work. The strikers joined the Amazons and in the fight which followed a number of persons were injured, several perhaps fatally.

—JUDGE THOMAS M. COOLEY, the great authority on constitutional law, in an address to his law students at Ann Arbor, said that individuals had no right to go to the seat of government and present petitions in person. The wheels of government might thus be stopped. He was referring to the Coxey movement.

—IT is said that the people who were swindled by A. R. Sutton, the Louisville whisky forger, are determined that he shall stay in prison the remainder of his life. There are enough counts to convict him for 1,000 years, in addition to the 10 that have been given him. As he is 56 years of age, about 10 more will cover his life time.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

—LOGAN CURD, editor of the Murray Ledger, died suddenly of heart trouble.

—DR. THOMAS BAILEY, a brother of John and J. Wesley Bailey, of the Turnersville neighborhood, died at Maryville, Texas, where he went over 40 years ago. He was 64.

—HON. THEODORE COOK died at Cincinnati Sunday, aged 65. He was prominent in business in Cincinnati, having been president of the Fourth National Bank, president of the Chamber of Commerce, president of the Cincinnati Southern railway, and member of the State Legislature. He was prominent in democratic politics, and has served as delegate in State and national conventions.

—COL. JOHN DISHMAN died at 2:35 p.m. yesterday. Will be buried with Masonic honors Saturday at 10 o'clock. B. F. Herndon." Thus read a dispatch sent us in plenty of time for our last paper, but which did not reach this office till 6 o'clock. Col. Dishman was a lawyer of note and a good democrat. He served in the Mexican war, enlisting from Lexington his birthplace. His daughter, Miss Annie Dishman, is well-known here, where many friends sympathize with her in her loss.

—MR. AND MRS. E. P. WOODS were called on Sunday night at 8:30 to suffer the loss of their last born, Little Eph. Jr., who died of cholera infantum. He had been sick only for a few days, but the disease was rapid and sapped his little vitality almost before the fond parents could realize that death could be so cruel. May they find consolation in the thought that He has said "Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not for such is the Kingdom of Heaven." After a funeral sermon at the residence yesterday afternoon, the remains were laid away in Buffalo Cemetery.

—THE NEW HARRODSBURG FAIR, besides its guaranteed purses to trotters and pacers, will open a stake for saddle mares and geldings of any age, to close June 1st. when it takes $5 to nominate and $2.50 to start, payable the evening before. Amount of stake guaranteed $150. Write for entry blanks to T. M. Cardwell, secretary, Harrodsburg, Ky.

Miss SALLIE DUDDERAR has returned from a visit to relatives in Louisville.

WALTER SAUNDERS was up at Livingston last week funning with the finny tribe.

HILL SPALDING, of Lebanon, is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Col. T. P. Hill.

Little girls have further blessed the households of Dr. W. B. O'Bannon and J. H. Greer.

Mr. W. H. BRADY will move his family into the house vacated by Mr. T. W. Geer to-day.

Mrs. BETTIE MCKINNEY and Mrs. Bettie Higgins have been visiting relatives at Hustonville.

E. W. SMITH's salary as engineer for the Danville water works has been fixed at $1,500 a year.

Mrs. J. R. ALBORD and niece, Miss Clara Jewett, have returned from a visit to relatives in Pulaski.

Mr. W. F. HENRY and Mrs. P. G. Warner, of Garrard, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Perrin.

Miss MARIE DAVIES WARREN, of Boyle, was up to see her cousins, Misses Jennie and Marie Warren, Friday.

Miss MAGGIE BUCHANAN, of Crab Orchard, is visiting her sister, Mrs. John A. Haldeman. —Courier-Journal.

SQUIRE AND CAP. PEYTON are going to Hustonville and Casey to visit relatives this week. Look out for them.

MR. AND MRS. C. H. PAINE and little Louise, of Boston, arrived Saturday and are guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Tate.

J. FOX DUDDERAR leaves to-day for an extended tour through Louisiana, Texas, Utah, California and other Western States.

Mr. SAM T. HARRIS went over to Milledburg Saturday to bring Miss Sue Woods home to see her little dying brother.

Miss MATTIE BOSLEY, of Lincoln county, was visiting her cousin, Mrs. L. B. Hurt, Sunday and Monday. —Columbia Spectator.

Mrs. M. J. MURPHY and Mrs. J. S. Hughes went to Lexington yesterday to see Mrs. R. D. Norwood and her wonderful baby.

Miss MARY DAVIES DUDDERAR makes regular visits to Dr. I. S. Burdett at Brodhead, who has benefited her eyes very greatly.

Mrs. CHARLES S. HAWITT left for Kenova, W. Va., yesterday, where her husband is located as conductor on the Norfolk & Western.

Mr. HUGH MANNING, of Clay, an old subscriber of the INTERIOR JOURNAL, has been appointed to a clerkship in the pension office at Louisville.

SQUIRE E. B. CALDWELL, Jr., and his daughter, Miss Ora, a very handsome young lady, of Waynesburg, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Caldwell, Sr.

John BRIGHT, of Graye, was down to see his homefolks Sunday and yesterday. His sister, Miss Maggie, returned with him and will remain several weeks.

Col. J. S. KEITH, of the Q. & C., passed down from the mountains yesterday. He says his road, like the rest, is feeling the stagnation in all kinds of business.

MR. AND MRS. WILL DAVIS have broken up house-keeping and will board with Mrs. Col. J. M. Beasley. Little Misses Ellie and Margaret Sandige, who have been with them, will go to Hustonville to live.

Mrs. J. F. GOVER gave a tea Saturday night in honor of her guests, Misses Margaret Bennett and Bertie Enoch, of Hustonville. A number of young gentlemen of town were present and enjoyed the evening greatly.

MISSES EMMA AND EFFIE WARREN have invitations to the graduating exercises of the Chetopa, Kansas, school, at which their neice, Miss Minnie Warren will be valedictorian. She is a daughter of Mr. Samuel Warren, who left here many years ago.

In addition to his duties as secretary for Master of Trains B. N. Roller, Mr. Thomas Lasley has been appointed agent at Rowland. This will give Mr. Lasley work, but he is equal to the occasion and we will guarantee he will do it well.

The current number of the Illustrated Kentuckian contains a picture of Miss Ora Wilmore, of Nicholasville, but it does not do justice to that lovely Brunette's beauty. The same publication also has a picture of James Tandy Ellis, and a sweet little poem from the pen of the brilliant poet laureate of Ghent.

BORN, on Friday last, to the wife of Mr. Joseph H. McAlister, a 10-pound Baptist—John Thomas.

SEVERE wind at Crab Orchard Sunday afternoon blew off a portion of the roof of the Christian church at that place.

CH. ESSLIN, the tanner, will be before the court house in Stanford next court day to swap leather for hides.

It is reported that in view of the late turn of events, the Waynesburg prohibitionists have wisely concluded to withdraw their application for an election in that precinct.

ALL persons indebted to A. A. Warren are requested to settle immediately. Those having claims against him will please file them properly verified. J. B. Paxton, assignee.

R. M. MOUSER, the Stanford painter, asks the patronage of the public and refers to J. S. Hocker, A. A. McKinney, Farris & Hardin, H. C. Rupley and J. A. Harris & Son, as to his work.

OUR great sale of sample shoes has been the talk of the town; no wonder when we are selling $3.50 and $4 shoes and slippers for $1.98. Another lot just received. B. F. Jones & Son.

On account of the Southern Baptist Convention, the L. & N. will sell round-trip tickets to Dallas, Texas, at $21.15 each May 8th to 10th inclusive, return limit 30 days from date of sale.

It will delight springs goers to learn that Capt. Thomas Richards and his excellent wife will be in charge of Linnetta Park Springs this season. He will open it June 1st and make it better even than in 1892. Rates $8 to $12 a week.

One of the finest skirt dancers on the stage is among the specialty people with Marney & McGowan's Uncle Tom's Cabin Co., which has a large and pleasing collection of them. See them at Walton's Opera House Wednesday night, 9th.

By working the rabbit's foot on Mrs. Burnside, Mrs. Green has succeeded in getting her to have the dining and other rooms of the Myers House beautified by handsome paper and paint. It was greatly needed and the improvement is very marked.

PROF. J. M. HUBBARD informs us that the commencement of Stanford Female College will occur June 8th, with the usual concert on the 7th. Three young ladies, who have taken the full course, will graduate, Misses Mary Bruce, Katie Alcorn and Callie Horton.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT.—While exercising the fine stallion, Alsatian, on the Lexington track last week, Mr. J. R. Farris was thrown from the sulky by the animal running away, and his leg broken between the knee and ankle. The horse fell and broke his neck. He was valued at $15,000.

THE city council moves in a mysterious way its wonders to perform. They raised the liquor license to the limit of $1,000, and then refused to grant it to an applicant. We tried to get out of a councilman what was their object, but he refused to talk and finally admitted that he was non compos mentis.

APRIL closed another successful year with us and to celebrate we will give away on Saturday, May 12, a nice aluminum thimble to each lady and an aluminum collar button to each gentleman calling at our store after 9 A. M. You don't have to buy a cent's worth to get the gift. It is absolutely free. Danks, the Jeweler.

The Lexington Press should make its statements consist. On its outside pages it gives in full Col. Breckinridge's remarks on his recent trial for breach of promise, and on its inside says he made no reference to it. The explanation is in the fact that a boiler plate man in Cincinnati is permitted to do much of the editing of that paper.

BROKE HIS ANKLE.—The horse ridden by Mr. William Raines became frightened by a freight train Friday and tried to run. Mr. Raines held him though and then the animal began to rear and pitch. The horse proved too much for him however and just as the corner of Logan Avenue was reached Mr. Raines was thrown. He struck the ground with terrific force breaking his right leg at the ankle. Dr. Cook attended the injured man and setting the broken member had him taken to his home on the Somerset pike.

A. R. PENNY's is the place to buy jewelry.

I. O. O. F.—A full attendance of the members of Stanford Lodge is requested for this (Tuesday) evening. A. C. Sine, secretary.

Be sure to see me at Stanford before you sell your wool, or Jess Rout at McKinney, or Wm. Rout at Moreland, or at Hustonville. Wm. Moreland.

OVER 800 sample hats just received latest styles and shapes, no two alike. We have hats to suit everyone at less than manufacturer's prices, $4 stiffs at $2.50, &c. B. F. Jones & Son.

I WILL open a first-class barber shop in the St. Asaph Hotel next Saturday, and solicit patronage of the public. Ed. Wilkerson, late of Junction City, whose citizens he thanks for a very liberal support.

THE miners in the Middlesboro section decided by a three-fourths majority not to strike, notwithstanding the officious walking delegate was on hand urging them to do so. This is sensible at this time at least.

T. H. SAUNDERS left here at 10 A. M. Saturday, rode up Halls Gap to Highland, then to Ottenheim. Crab Orchard, Lancaster and was back here by 4 P. M. He holds the record on long distance easily over the boys.

SUICIDE.—"Shorty" Patrick, a well-known freight engineer on this division, committed suicide at Louisville yesterday. His mind had been wrong for several months. Mr. Patrick was foreman at Rowland some years ago.

AFTER two days of wind and dust a good rain fell Sunday evening, which was greatly needed. Yesterday was bright and warm and the hump that vegetation got on itself could almost be seen. "Fair, slightly cooler Tuesday," read yesterday's dispatch.

FOR LIFE—Chief of Police James Bowman, charged with Police Judge Jones in the murder of Wm. Reeder, whom they killed while attempting to arrest, was, after a week's trial, given a verdict for life. It occasioned considerable surprise and a new trial was asked.

THE license of Mr. Thomas Dalton expires next Friday. Will Stanford be dry then? Nay, verily. The drug stores can tell till next November and Tom Shelton at Rowland has been granted permission to retail spirituous, vinous and malt liquors till the latter part of next April.

HALF RATES.—There is going to be a big dog show in Louisville, May 9-12, and Agent J. S. Rice tells us that the L. & N. will sell round-trip tickets at one fare from the 8th to the 10th inclusive, return limited to the 14th. This is a good chance to go to Louisville for half price, whether you are a dog fancier or not.

THE Paluch Standard, of a recent date says: "A large and well pleased audience gathered at Morton's last evening to witness the time-worn and tested play of Uncle Tom's Cabin, as rendered by Marney & McGowan's company. The characters were all ably sustained and the various familiar scenes were well rendered. The comedy part of Marks the lawyer, was in the hands of a very capable comedian, Charles Hasty, who enacted more fun out of the rule than usual. Some well rendered specialties added interest and variety to the performance." The company will enter at Walton's Opera House to-morrow night, at the very low admission of 25 and 50c.

NEW ORDINANCES.—The city council at its last meeting passed ordinances to cover offenses not provided for under them, the fines heretofore going to the State instead of the city. For selling liquors to minors and to inebriates, $50 each for each offense and for gaming from $20 to $100. License to sell liquor was raised to $1,000, Daugherty and Withers, dissenting. The applicant must be of good character, be prepared to entertain the traveling public, keep a quiet and orderly house, close Sundays and keep no billiard table, pool or pigeon hole table or bowling alley within 30 feet of the bar, under penalty of a forfeiture of license and a fine of from $20 to $100 for each sale after revocation of license. Saloons must close at 10 P. M. under the same penalty. Physicians must print or write their prescriptions for whisky plainly, with patient's name on it and say that it is absolutely necessary for him to have it, under a penalty of $50 to $100. Druggists shall keep a register of such prescriptions for six months, which shall be open the police judge and city attorney, under a like penalty. Druggist's license to sell liquor in less quantities than a quart and not to be drunk on the premises or adjacent thereto was fixed at $250. P. W. Green applied for license to sell liquors at his hotel, but he was refused.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—There are 1,200 divorced men and 2,400 divorced women in Kentucky.

—Twenty-five States and Territories forbid marriage between white and "colored" people.

—Seven-tenths of the marriages in every country takes place between the ages of 20 and 30.

—Mr. J. M. Walls and Miss Lena Ryan, both of the South Fork section, were united heart and hand at Green River church Sunday.

—Henry C. Brown, a Denver, Col. four millionaire, was married to a modest and unassuming school teacher of 22. His family was not apprised of his intention till he had consummated it.

—Dave Burgess, the well known engineer on this division, was married yesterday to Miss Maggie Meikle, a niece of the great Louisville plow man. Their bridal tour will include a trip to St. Paul, Minn.

—Miss Madge Redd, one of the belles of the Blue Grass, eloped from Lexington Saturday with Mr. Thomas Warren, of St. Louis, and is now his wife. She is said to be one of the most beautiful girls in Fayette.

—If it is true, as the census bureau alleges, that there are 100,000 more married men in the country than there are married women, what, in the name of Hymen, are those 100,000 men married to?—Chicago Record.

—John T. Pressley, a wealthy widower of Indianapolis, has been compelled three times to secure the arrest of a widow who annoys him with protestations of affection and wants to marry him in spite of himself. Why don't the fool marry her if she is wealthy?

—Miss Nettie Phelps and Mr. John Noel Russell, of Huntington, W. Va., were married at Richmond in the Christian church, Thursday, Rev. Peterkin, Bishop of West Virginia, officiated. Miss Mary McKinney, of this county, attended and says it was a most elaborate and beautiful wedding.

—A Dallas, Texas, paper says that Miss Annie Lee de Jarnette and Mr. Albert L. O'Neale, will be married at St. Mathews June 12. The prospective groom is said to be a very rich man, while those who met Miss de Jarnette, when she visited Misses Annie and Mary Alcorn a few years ago, can testify that she is a most charming young lady.

Stranger—How long will it take one to go from here to Goobertown?

Native—Pends on th' way ye go—the long or the short way.

Stranger—Well, the short way; how long?

Native—Pends on whether you ride or walk.

Stranger—Oh, hang it! I'll drive, of course.

Native—Then it'll all hang on how fast the horses be. It may take ye one time an' it may take ye another. Horses differs so in speed.

Stranger (desperately)—Well, when you drive there yourself, how long does it take you?

Native—Ain't never drivit.

Stranger—And when you walk it, then?

Native—Never thought to time me; but it's my notion o' things that mebbe if you'd started about the time ye began talkin' to me about it, ye might possibly have been there by this ef' y'd traveled fast enough.—Harper's Bazaar.

A Hope.

George—Aunt Alice, didn't you say the other day that I have a sweet tooth?

Aunt Alice—Yes, George.

George—And how did you know it?

Aunt Alice—Because you are so fond of candy.

George—Does my tooth make me fond of candy?

Aunt Alice—Yes, George. Why?

George—Why, because if my sweet tooth makes me fond of candy I just hope the dentist won't go and pull it out by mistake when I go next week.—Harper's Young People.

LADY-FINGERS.

Mother—These delicious cakes called "lady-fingers" are known as "funeral biscuits" in England.

Little Daughter—Ooo! Why?
"Because they are only served at funerals."

Oh! Well, I should think they would be a good deal of a comfort.—Good News.

THEY WOULD DROP DEAD.

Shifties—I'm going to get rid of my creditors.

Bingles—Kill them!

Shifties—No, pay them.

Bingles—Same thing.—Town Topics.

Husband—Does that new novel turn out happily?

Wife—It doesn't say. It only says they were married.—N. Y. Weekly.

NOT UNREASONABLE.

Excuse me, but were you at Mrs. Highbrow's reception just now?"

"Yes."

"Well, may I walk with you as far as the corner under my umbrella?"—Life.

A MINOR CONSIDERATION.

Her Father—Why do you wish to marry him, Grace?

Grace—Why, because he loves me.

Her Father—But do you love him?

Grace—Why, I never thought of that.

I have been too much interested in getting him to propose to have time to think of it.—Brooklyn Life.

TWO BIRDS WITH ONE STONE.

Fanny—You take Dick Foster so seriously. Nothing he says is worth a moment's consideration.

Nanny—But he insinuated that I was one of the mushroom aristocracy.

Fanny—Humph! He hasn't sense enough to tell a mushroom from a toad-stool.—Judge.

RAILROAD SCHEDULES.

HORSES FOR SALE OR SHOW.

HOW TO FEED AND PREPARE THEM TO STAND THE TEST.

A friend came into the writer's office a few days ago and said: "I have just had sent me a gelding that is badly run down, all 'bunged up,' in fact, and the sender wants me to fix him up. He has taken the horse on a debt and his former owner says he has plenty of speed. The horse looks as though he had not had a mouthful of grain all winter and very little hay. He is as thin as any horse I ever saw, is badly constipated, and from the starving process to which he has been subjected his intestines and stomach are in very bad shape. His legs seem to be all right, but what I want to know is what I am to do with him so as to get him into shape to sell or drive at the earliest possible date."

The first thing to be done with a horse in this state is to give him copious injections of warm water and soapsuds, and with about three ounces of glycerin to the pailful of warm water. This will remove the mucous discharge which accompanies the feces. Then give the starveling a small bran mash—very small—for his contracted stomach will not stand a large one. Give him this with a boiled root or two twice the first day and a fairly liberal allowance of hay. He may eat more hay than is good for him if allowed it at first, so his ration must be restricted. The second day give him three small mashes, and the third day give him 1 1/2 pints of raw linseed oil. Continue the mashes, increasing their size if no signs of colic appear, and the fourth day give him another quart of linseed oil, as before. This will most likely purge him severely, but that is what is wanted. Continue the injections till the third day, operating three times the first day and twice on each of the succeeding days. If the first olate operates well, give a final injection at night and lay the syringe by.

After the oil has done all that it will do the mashes may be increased, and at the end of the first week a little crushed oats should be added to the bran, which should always be fed warm, but not sloppy. If the weather is not too cold, and the box in which the patient is kept is a warm one, the clippers should be run over his bony frame. The loss of the heavy coat will be a relief. If the box is a cold one or the weather severe, the coat should remain till circumstances warrant its removal. It should be taken off as soon as possible.

At the end of the tenth day or thereabouts, according to the severity of the case, grain may be added, the fattening process may be begun. The most important agent that may be employed is milk, in conjunction with flaxseed. Take ground flaxseed—the pure article, not the refuse of the oil mills commonly known as oilmeal—add boiling water to it and let it stand till the whole mass has assumed the form of a jelly. Then give three times a day, lightly at first, and increase it till the animal's full capacity is reached, a ration compounded in the following proportions: The jelly formed by a pound of linseed, 3 pounds crushed oats, 2 quarts bran, a quart measure full of hay cut into three-quarter inch lengths and wet the whole with 3 quarts of new milk—skim milk will do if new milk cannot be had.

This will be rather too heavy a ration at first, but it can be decreased, observing the proportions. Let this be given three times a day at first, and after a week add the following: Give the first feed at 6 a. m. At 12 m. give this drink: The jelly from a pound of flaxseed, 3 quarts of milk, 2 quarts of warm water, and the meal of a pound of crushed oats. Mix the whole together and gather the husks off the drink as they rise. At 2 p. m. give the regular feed, again at 7 p. m., and at 9 p. m. give drink. In a month the horse may be made to put on not less than 100 pounds of meat. Of course this will not be very serviceable meat, but by dry feeding and tapering off the milk and mash it can be utilized very well.

This system of feeding will make flesh quicker than any other and may be adopted with perfect safety if the attendant will take the trouble to notice how the amounts given are affecting the patient. The whole secret consists in first mechanically removing the effects of starvation on the intestines and then gradually working the digestive apparatus up to its fullest capacity. Until the stomach is able to take care of the full ration the effects of each feed must be observed so as to prevent the animal being "stalled." The horse may not like the milk at first, but he can soon be got to take it and crave for it.—Horsemanship.

THOSE WHO ARE POSTED.—Will tell you that the finest and healthiest summer resorts in the northwest are located along the Wisconsin Central Lines, among which are Lake Villa, Fox Lake, Antioch, Burlington, Mukwonago, Waukesha, Neenah, Waupaca, Fifield, Ashland and Duluth. Tourists and pleasure seekers figuring on their next summer's vacation should bear this in mind and before selecting a route drop a line to Jas. C.
